

JOB OFFER:

Smart Home expert

What's the deal for you?

ms.GIS is a leading company in the field of IoT and geospatial technologies developing smart solutions for Cities, Government, Infrastructures & Living Spaces.

We offer you the opportunity to join one of our agile teams in our current headquarter in Mödling (next to Vienna). As smart home expert, you should work on function and use-case design as well as implementation tests, change management, etc.

You can choose between full-time or part-time employments and of course, we'll provide you the right IT equipment to get your work done. As an Equal Opportunity Employer we already have great diversity in our team and welcome all applications equally.

The payment corresponds at least to the applicable Austrian collective agreement for information technology.

What do we expect from you?

Let yourself get inspired by our open minded and innovative spirit while joining your dedicated team. Participate, be respectful, supportive and show passion in what you do. Your ideas are appreciated anytime.

Apart from that, you should be familiar with

- Smart Homes
- Building Automation
- IoT HW & SW

If you are interested in working in a dedicated team, we look forward to receiving your application.
